Warner Bros. Fulton Theatre Opens Tomorrow

THE LISTENING POST

TOMMIE GOLDSMITH, commander of the local American Legion Post, is making plans for a number of the members of the local post to attend the first district meeting of the American Legion this year which will be held in Paducah Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Elks Club. B. C. Lee, department commander, accompanied by Walter Johnson, vice commander, Owensboro, and other department officials will attend. The meeting will be a get-together of Legionnaires from every post in the First district. All Fulton members are urged to attend. Mr. Goldsmith wants everyone who can attend the meeting to be at the Legion Log Cabin at 12:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon if they have no means of conveyance, and same will be provided for them.

IT RAINED on the first of the month again, so we can expect fifteen days of rain this month. Last night's rain was welcome in this vicinity and came just in time to save many crops.

TODAY, FOLKS, we give you "Warner Brother's New Fulton Theatre" all wrapped in cellophane and done up in a neat little package. If you don't like it—you can give it back to Messrs. J. D. Davis, Ernest Fall and R. H. White, because they like it. In today's issue you will find the complete story behind the scenes and many interesting facts concerning this new show and the pictures that are to be shown there after its opening tomorrow night, also many congratulatory ads from local merchants who are interested in this new show. Today workmen are putting on the last finishing touches; flags are flying high on the marquee, the sound and cooling system have been completed and are in fine shape, the last coats of paint have dried and the dust wiped from everything. Everything is in readiness for the grand opening tomorrow night and we believe you'll be agreeably surprised if you attend this opening.

DR. C. G. BAKER, County Health Doctor, in Fulton this morning, stated that there was a little flurry of measles and whooping cough in Fulton County. He also told me that he had on hand a serum for infantile paralysis which a Dr. Roseneau of the Mayor Clinic had developed which, if used in cases of infantile paralysis, greatly reduced the dangers and was the best medicine on the market today for this disease. So far there has been no infantile paralysis in Fulton County this summer.

IF YOU'LL look around in the grandstand this afternoon you'll see "Kid" Ellersfeld in person, last year's manager of the Fulton baseball club, who is in Fulton for a visit.

SHERIFF PHILLIPS of Wayne County, Mich., was in Fulton today looking for a man wanted in his county, but failed to get his man.

H. HUNTER Thomason, the prize-winning man who won himself a prize in the Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation's contest, and who got himself lost before the check arrived at the Usona where he had been staying, has been found. Seeing in this newspaper where he had won himself a prize, he immediately wrote the Usona, giving them a forwarding address, and the check was today forwarded to him at Union City.

YEWELL HARRISON, principal Carr Institute and Junior High School, hopes to develop a good school band this year. There will be no tuition charge for instruction.

Engineers Say "Ready To Go" On Flood Task

Program Said To Rest On Ability Of Cities To Meet
U. S. Requirements

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP).—Army engineers, said today, they were "ready to go" on Ohio River Valley flood control projects authorized by the recent Congress.

They said, however, the program depended on the ability of communities along the river to meet requirements of a bill providing $24,000,000 for flood wall and other works in the valley.

The bill stipulates that local governments must buy land, easements and right of way needed for the project. President Roosevelt is given discretionary power to direct federal aid in such purchases to the extent of 50 per cent where communities show they are unable to bear all the expense.

Engineers said plans for many projects already were drawn and awaited only reports on the ability of local authorities to cooperate financially. These reports are being assembled by Col. R. G. Powell, division engineer at Cincinnati, and probably will be received here next week.

Plans Are Made For Schools Here

Superintendent J. O. Lewis announced today that Fulton city schools would open on Monday, September 13th. Students will not be required to report until 1 o'clock p. m., at which time a short session would be held during which books will be issued, teachers will make their assignments and registration will begin.

On Monday morning at 9 o'clock Mr. Lewis has called a meeting at the high school for the white faculty, and at 10:30 o'clock he has called one at the Milton Junior High School for the colored faculty.

All text books and school supplies are now at Baldridge's and book lists will be given out Monday. The State will again furnish text books up to and including the sixth grade, but students will be expected to furnish their own note books, pencils, tablets, and other school supplies. Regular classes will start on Tuesday, however students will only attend for a half day on Tuesday morning, with the first full day attendance being on Wednesday.

Mr. Lewis stated a much larger enrollment is expected this year over last year's enrollment, and that, in all probability there would be four hundred enrolled at Carr Institute, two hundred and fifteen at the Fulton City School, and fifteen at the Fulton Junior High School. Each student is expected to furnish his own instrument. There will be three rehearsals each week, it is believed now. Mr. Harrison has had eight years of experience in developing bands in McCracken County and at Lone Oak school. He was at the latter school for six years. He is a graduate of Murray State Teachers College.

MISS KATHERINE RICHARDSON, who will have charge of the orchestra and chorus work in the senior and junior high school, graduated from the Hopkinsville High School and from Western State College, where she participated in the band during the whole time she was in school.

MRS. MARTIN Hall will be the attendance officer again this year for the Fulton City Schools, and Mrs. Clyde Howard will have charge of the school cafeteria.

Threat Of Mob Is Revealed By Minister

Gadsden, Ala., Sept.—A Methodist minister testified today he was threatened after preaching a sermon condemning the beating of United Rubber Workers of America organizers by a mob here June 25, 1936.

The Rev. W. S. Hullett was a surprise witness at the National Labor Relations Board hearing of a complaint charging a "reign of terror" was instigated here by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company to prevent unionization of its employees.

Mr. Hullett said he delivered his sermon the Sunday after the beating of several U. R. W. A. organizers.

The following Tuesday, the witness said, Harry Trussell, identified as a member of the Goodyear "flying squadron," warned him "a mob is forming but if you will apologize I can get it stopped."

He informed Trussell he was unwilling to apologize.

Girl Wife Killer Waits Pen Trip

Harlan, Ky., Sept.—Facing a life sentence for slaying his 14-year-old bride, Wert Ayers, 38, miner of Insull, today awaited transfer to the penitentiary following his plea of guilty before Circuit Judge James M. Gilbert.

The girl, whose romance began when she met Ayers in a grocery in May, was found dead in a rocking chair with a bullet hole below her eye. When officers arrived the husband was next door and confessed "It was a mistake; I loved her," they reported. He said a pistol was discharged when the girl attempted to snatch it from him.

Purchase of Nazi Cuspidors Precipitates Crisis In Gotham

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP).—A major municipal crisis was precipitated tonight by the delivery at the office of Manhattan Borough President Samuel Levy of twenty-four fiber cuspidors, each bearing on its bottom a Nazi swastika and the words "Made in Germany."

In high indignation Levy publicly denounced the cuspidors as "sleazy," and "unfair to American labor," said they would not be satisfactory under any circumstances, and that even if they were the finest ever made he would still reject them. He declared he was returning them to City.

Commissioner Russell Forbes "with my compliments."

"We made a requisition for spittoons to be used around this office and this is what we get," he roared, ripping the wrapping off one of the twenty-four receptacles piled on his desk.

"Look at the bottom here and you find a swastika and the words 'Made in Germany.' I feel that this is unfair to American labor. It might be well to remain Commissioner Forbes that the man who appointed him to office, Mayor La Guardia, is vice president of the

Magnificent Warner Bros. Theatre Receives Finishing Touches Today

First Showing In New Show House
Tomorrow Night—Interest Keen

The feature picture for the opening of the new Warner Brothers' New Fulton Theatre will be "The Good Earth" with Paul Muni. The box office will open at 3 P. M. Saturday afternoon in order that patrons may purchase their tickets early. There will be no reserved seats. The doors will open at 7:15 o'clock, and the performance is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock with a preliminary ceremony, followed by the Beauty Pageant to be held to determine who shall be "Miss South."

The beauty pageant will feature charming and beautiful girls of Fulton and surrounding communities, with the winner to be crowned "Miss South. First prize winner will be awarded a round trip ticket to the Centennial at Dallas, Texas, by the American Airways. Second award will be a round trip via the Illinois Central System to Chicago, and third prize will be a round trip to New Orleans by the Illinois Central Railroad.

Many patrons from Fulton and surrounding vicinity are planning to attend the opening, and thousands of theatre patrons are expected to visit the new theatre over the weekend.

More Eng. Warships To Go To Mediterranean With Concurrence Of France

London, Sept. 2. British naval reinforcements sped into the Western Mediterranean tonight, England's answer to mysterious submarine and airplane attacks on British ships.

The Cabinet decision for more warships in the trouble zone off the coast of Spain was made with the full concurrence of France.

Both nations also were agreed on France's suggestion, to bring the issue before the League of Nations Council next week.

Public opinion in both nations, inflamed by official intimations that Italy is responsible for the increasingly frequent raids on neutral merchantmen and warships, was believed to be nearing the limit of its patience.

Molestation of shipping on Britain's empire "life line" was capped by mysterious submarine attacks on the British destroyer Havok and the British tanker Woodford.

1-3 Of High School Grads. Enter College

Washington, Sept.—One out of every three boys and girls who finished high school last spring, Government education experts estimate, will enroll in college this month.

Statisticians at the Office of Education also predicted today that one out of every two entering college will get a degree.

They said the total college enrollment expected this autumn—1,250,000—equals about half the total number of living college graduates in the United States—2,515,000.

Reduction in part-time job assistance through the National Youth Administration may pare those figures some, officials said.

Arthur Williams, executive assistant N. Y. A. administrator, has announced that present appropriations will permit aid to about 92,000 college students in 1937-38, a decrease of 46,000 one-third from last year.

Let's go to Warner Brother's New Fulton Theatre opening Saturday night. Here's what will greet your eyes:

As you enter the spacious lobby you are pleasantly surprised to find that Fulton has such a theatre. The lobby is 14x20 and is of tile with rubber mats on walkways, with the walls of black structural glass trimmed with aluminum metal. The box office is 3x5 with the base of the outside of black structural glass and the top part of polished plate glass trimmed with metal moulding. Inside the walls are of insulate painted cream.

As you enter the main auditorium through the foyer you will see a beautifully decorated and lighted 72x64 auditorium, with a seating capacity of 647, with arch back, leather bottom, cushioned seats. On the four sides are Scotia strips of carpet in large design, corresponding to the carpet which is solidly laid in the foyer, stairways and lounge rooms.

On the walls the panels next to the stage are of three shades of blue, with the fluted columns throughout trimmed in silver. The panels on the main walls between the column and the back wall are of gold and red rock wool tapestry. On each of the twelve columns are cream colored light fixtures, indirectly lighted.

The silver screen on which the pictures will be shown is 19 feet wide and 15 feet high, with the traveler curtains of gold colored swirl plush. These curtains (each curtain measures 14 feet wide and 18 feet high) are electrically operated from the projection room. The grand drapery or valance is of red velvet scalloped with gold colored silk fringe and tied back with gold cords.

The stage is 37 feet and 2 inches wide, 12 feet 6 inches deep, and the utility rooms on the left contain the cooling system on the left and the boiler room on the right. The boiler room is 13x26 and is absolutely fireproof.

Five grills placed over the side exits in the back of the theatre dispense the cooled air over the building, two bring in the cooled air and three carry out the used.

Two stairways leading from the foyer, one to the lounge rooms on the right, the other to the manager's office and projection room, have wrought iron banisters trimmed with wood rail.

The ladies lounge room is decorated in three shades of pink, with cream colored curtains at the windows, and ivory and red furnishings. The walls of the adjoining lavatory room are finished in ivory and brown, and metal partitions separate the three toilets. The men's smoker is finished

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

Tomorrow the doors to a magnificent new picture show swing open. Thousands of dollars have been expended in efforts to give the people of this community a place of amusement that will be a credit to the community and a credit to the moving picture industry. Today the business interests of Fulton join in hailing the opening of this splendid new structure, and tomorrow the people of Fulton will have an opportunity of seeing just what has been prepared for their amusement. Naturally I am proud of the new show for I am proud of every progressive step that is taken in Fulton. This newspaper is always deeply interested in any movement that is for the betterment of Fulton, for the history of this publication goes back almost forty years, and during those ten decades the Leader has always been willing to do its full part in community development.

But while hailing the new I also have some memories of the old; some mental pictures of years gone by that illustrate how swiftly changes come in this restless nation of ours. The moving picture industry is a new industry, and people who are young today remember the first moving picture shows that came to Fulton. I do not recall the year that the first show was opened here, but it must have been about 1907 or 1908. I came to this city in 1909, and there were two picture shows here then. W. Levi Chisholm had one, and it was located somewhere near where the Hornbeak Bakery now is. Another stood at about the spot where the Strand Theatre is now located. Many a hot summer night, during the summer of 1909, I walked the streets or sat on the grass in front of Lake Street. Every night a phonograph that was thrust out from the Chisholm show played the same tune:

"We'll be traveling soon
 In the light of the silver moon."

Two or three automobiles were operating in the city then, perhaps a half dozen, and the town was beginning to feel its importance with automobiles and two picture shows.

Inside the picture show was a section curtained off for use of the colored folks, and those who remember "Whale" Anderson can remember how his booming laugh used to almost break up the show. "Whale" always laughed at all the poignant scenes, and thinking of them now, I have come to believe that he had more sense of humor than the rest of us, for the sentiment in the early days was just a shade crude. I remember one night, perhaps about 1910, that Mr. Chisholm announced the advent of pictures that would talk. Of course, this meant only a phonograph with some records, for at that time talkies were a distant dream. There was no way to make the records keep pace with the pictures, and "Whale" Anderson had a whale of a time that night as the phonograph and the picture failed to mesh. I remember one scene where the hero was standing at the grave of a baby, and was supposed to be expressing his sorrow. Later he was mounted on a fast horse, chasing the scoundrel who had murdered the baby. At that time, with guns blazing, the phonograph decided to deliver the grave side speech, and did so, amidst the wild whoops of "Whale" Anderson and his colored cohorts.

But as moving pictures came on and established themselves, another American institution was passing. The automobile was whipping the livery stable, and around on Fourth Street a livery stable that had been the pride of the town in years gone by fell into disuse. Mr. Chisholm bought it, and there built the present Orpheum Theatre. It was a splendid picture house for the time, and it has kept pace with the improvements that have come about. I have never been in a theatre which had better sound, and the building has always been comfortable. But there are times, as I sit and view some delicate picture, and gaze on some alluring damsel as they walk back and forth across the stage, that I remember one day when I entered that building for the first time. I had come to Fulton with a baseball team from a neighboring town, and we came in a two-horse carryall. We drove right through those arched doors which now make up the Orpheum entrance and unhitched our horses about where the stage now stands. I know that it has been quite the fashion in Little Theatre circles to make show houses from livery stables, but somehow I can never forget the fact that the Orpheum had such a lowly birth. Not that I object to the livery stable. I consider it one of our great American institutions, and there were periods in my lifetime I had an ambition to be a hostler and hitch up the fast grays as some traveling man came in demanding the best in the stable. But somehow, despite the fact that I loved livery stables, I do not think they make the best picture shows.

And so, I salute the new, with wistful memories of the old.

Three Fulton Men Play Important Role In Getting Warner's New Fulton Theatre

Three Fulton men, J. E. Fall, Joe D. Davis and R. H. White, are back of the project which led up to a contract with Warner Brothers and the opening of the new Fulton Theatre.

These three men purchased the old Franklin building last year and have remodeled and re-constructed it into a most modern and up-to-date theatre for Fulton. Warner installed the proper equipment, acoustics and other equipment necessary for the operation of a theatre.

The approximate cost of the building and the entire equipment is estimated to have cost approximately $100,000.00.

These men need no introduction, having been prominent in business and civic affairs in Fulton for many years. Mr. Fall is engaged in the insurance business, while Joe D. Davis operates a cotton business in season and is connected with the City Coal Company. R. H. White is proprietor of the Bob White Motor Company.

Frank Merryman Is Popular Builder

Frank Merryman well known contractor, was a busy man supervising general carpenter, work and finishing it at the New Fulton Theatre. Frank, as he is known by his friends can always be depended upon to get the job done.

FRANK MERRYMAN

Mr. Merryman has been active in the building trade here for many years, and many homes and business places in this section have been built and remodeled under his skilled craftsmanship. So when the task of erecting the new theatre came up, Mr. Merryman qualified for the job, and got busy preparing the old building for the large steel beams that support the roof. And from that time until the show house was finished Mr. Merryman was bending every effort to aid in completing the job on time.

It will be remembered that when the old cigar factory had to be enlarged and remodeled, Mr. Merryman as a contractor and overseer was engaged for the job. Today the new addition to the factory makes it one of the outstanding industrial buildings in West Kentucky.

It is such able contractors and builders as Mr. Merryman who

THE STORY OF THE WARNER BROS.

The dedication of the New Warner's Fulton Theatre Saturday night adds another beautiful edifice to the notable group directed by Warner Bros. and devoted to the finest entertainment that art can devise.

For a quarter of a century Warner Bros. have been in the forefront among picture producers. It was their daring and initiative that brought to the world the marvel of Vitaphone Talking pictures. H. M. Warner, Major Albert Warner and Jack Warner comprise the firm. Their first theatre was a little continuous performance house in Newcastle, Penn., opened in 1903. But Warner Bros. saw greater opportunity as producers than exhibitors and began their important contracts as distributors of films.

In the years that followed the fates doled good times and bad for Warner Bros. Eventually they became important producers with studios in Brooklyn and Hollywood. Then came the opportunity they anticipated. Silent films had been perfected to the point where little further progress could be expected. Pioneers from the first, Warner Bros. undertook the perfection of a practical talking picture apparatus.

Their courage and foresight displayed by Warner Bros. eventually brought Vitaphone to the screen and revolutionized the motion picture industry. In time this was followed by the introduction of 100% natural color pictures, to add additional values to the entertainment they provided for the public. Tremendous expansion followed the introduction of Vitaphone. From an important factor in their business Warner Bros., almost over night became a dominating force. With this growth they naturally entered the field of theatre operation. Beautiful theatre art now under their direction in every section of the country and abroad.

In all their undertakings Warner Bros. have always led—never followed. They looked to the future and considered what it might hold. Early in their history they adopted a motto—"What Warner Bros. Promise, Warner Bros. deliver." This declaration has been resolutely adhered to and upon that base has been built the magnificent business structure which stands today without a superior in the field of Motion Picture Entertainment.

will be given the new season's superior Product with superior service, the utmost Efficiency in Projection and Sound besides one of the most beautiful theatres in the country. Everyone is sure to say: "Let's go to the Movies... The New Warner Fulton Theatre is the place I like best."

the present new Warner Brother's Fulton Theatre. As a result, Fulton now has one of the finest theatres in the South.

Associated with motion picture business for the past thirty years, Mr. Waugh is one of the highest ranking personalities in the show business today. He has written an exploitation book, together with one of the co-workers, which has been widely acclaimed throughout the nation. To him Fulton citizens owe deep appreciation for the beautiful new theatre.

Howard Waugh Aids In New Theatre

Howard Waugh, zone manager for Warner Brother's Theatres of Kentucky and Tennessee, has been instrumental in bringing this new $100,000.00 movie palace to Fulton. Mr. Waugh has been a constant visitor to Fulton for the past four years in the interests of the local Warner Brother's theatre, and three years ago he saw the need of a new and larger theatre for Fulton, at which time he started making his plans for the erection of same.

Together with local interests, he started negotiations with Warner Brother's which ultimately led to

Screen's Best Smiles Listed By Nomination

Lists of best this and that may come and go, but when you decide to get opinions on the four best smiles in Hollywood, you've really cut yourself a slice of task. Because if there's one thing Hollywood has a super-abundance of, it's smiles.

Coming on Dorothy Lamour first, we asked her. After slight thought her vote went to Mary Pickford, because the Pickford smile retains its elfin wistfulness even to this day. Gilbert Roland tossed his vote to Mae West, "because her smile hints at all the facts of life with an understanding humor."

Cecil B. DeMille gave the nod to his new Hungarian find, Franciska Gaal, whom he has cast opposite Fredric March in "The Buccaneer." "Miss Gaal's smile combines piquant innocent appeal with mature allure," he said.

And Karen Morley gives Claudette Colbert the nod. "Her smile has the mystery and allure of femininity through the ages."

Cigarettes Entice Navajos To Emote

The East Indian's congenial aversion to the camera seems to be shared by his vanishing North American brothers.

On the Navajo Reservation near Flagstaff, Arizona, where Paramount's latest Hopalong Cassidy picture, "Texas Trail," was filmed, the Indians professed to have such a wholesome fear of the camera that it was almost impossible to get pictures of them.

The solution was found quickly, for more than 200 cartons of cigarettes and a thousand sacks of tobacco were handed out to win them over easily.

Nazi Boycott League.

Forbes was unavailable, but his assistant, Albert Pleydell, expressed horror at the German-made cuspidors and promised a quick investigation.

He recalled that in 1933 some pickaxes marked "Made in Germany" were delivered to Levy's office and "Mr. Levy went off the handle at the time, but a check-up showed that the articles were purchased by his office."

The controversial cuspidors were stamped "Silesia," a German province, and in his castigation of them Levy went so far as to look "Silesia" up in the dictionary and reported it as the antecedent of the word "sleazy," meaning "lacking firmness of texture, thin, flimsy."

"I say you can buy anything you need in the United States," he declared, "and if you can't you can get along without it."

Outlook For Football Is Good Here

Coach Jack Carter and Professor Lewis are unusually optimistic about football prospects this year. Football practice began Wednesday, with about twenty-five boys out for practice. These prospects are being put through two sessions each day, the first one at 6 o'clock a. m. and the last one at 3:30 p. m. and while it is a little early to give any predictions, Mr. Lewis states they are showing up well.

The first game is scheduled with the Morganfield team game on Friday night, September 10, which is the earliest date in the history of this school for the opening game. The boys are working hard to get ready for this game, which will be played at Morganfield in their new WPA stadium which is being dedicated on that occasion. The Morganfield squad is expecting to get revenge for the defeat handed them by the Bull Dogs last year.

At the present time Tommie Edwards and Howard Armbruster are showing up well at end, with Bobby Snow, Robert Koelling and Clyde Hill looking exceptionally good at tackle. A pair of veteran guards are L. H. Cook and Dane Lovelace, center is being played by Jarrell Stockdale and Robert Koelling. Back field will have "Pee-Wee" Namney, Charlie Thomas, Billie Williams, Ernest Hancock and Fred Brady. Others out for positions are Jack Wygal, for tackle; Albert Moss and Jimmie Lewis are trying for guard duty, while David Homra, James Underwood, Almus Underwood, and W. I. Shupe are also in there trying out for positions. Jack Parker, who is nursing an injury, is expected to come out later. Others are also expected.

The schedule is incomplete at this time, but games scheduled so far are: Morganfield, Sept. 10,

Eagles Break Mayfield's Sixteen Game Winning Streak Here 8-5

Three Mayfield Pitchers Unable To Stop Eagle Hitting

The Eagles broke Mayfield's winning streak here yesterday, defeating the Clothiers 8 to 5, and thus bringing Mayfield down after 16 straight victories. The Eagles hit in timely fashion, scoring eight runs in the first six innings. Gregory Lippold went the route for the winners, giving up eight hits, while Fulton secured ten. Cooper was the hitting star of the game.

Mayfield used three pitchers. Gunter started, and was relieved by Elmer Wright. The latter gave way to Hinkle, who managed to put the brakes on Fulton's score-making.

The entire team played well. This afternoon Mayfield is here again, and tomorrow the teams play in Mayfield. Fulton finishes the season with two double bills against Union City. The first is to be played here Sunday, and the next at Union City Monday.

NO COAL HANDLING

Perhaps you have already installed automatic heating. But you haven't made your ultimate switch until you install an Iron Fireman automatic coal burner. If you are still using a hand-fired furnace, we ask you to consider this ultimate step immediately.

For truly your best bet today is to heat with coal via Iron Fireman, the machine which fires coal directly from the coal bin, doing away entirely with coal handling.

Coal, as you know, is America's permanent fuel supply. Coal always has been safe and economical. Today it is also clean and convenient. Stoker sizes of coal which Iron Fireman use cost less per ton for the same quality than ordinary lump coal. This lower priced fuel coupled with higher firing efficiency, make Iron Fireman cost even less than hand-firing—far less than any other kind of automatic fuel.

But get the whole story. Ask us for illustrated literature, prices and free survey of your own heating plant.

FULTON MERCHANTS HAIL NEW PICTURE SHOW

Local Merchants Cooperate In Leader Special Edition Today

Saturday, September 4, Fulton is celebrating the opening of Warner Brothers' New Fulton Theatre, a magnificent $100,000 structure with all the latest equipment, including air-conditioning. Opening of this new theatre marks the culmination of plans which have been long in the making.

Fulton and Fulton business men are indeed proud of the new theatre and in this issue are extending congratulations and best wishes to the owners of the new building, Messrs. J. E. Fall, J. D. Davis and R. H. White, as well as Warner Brothers' officials, and Burgess Waltmon, local manager.

In this issue of the Daily Leader will be found greetings from a majority of the firms of this city. Fulton has always had progressive business men and at such times as these they are glad to co-operate in a publicity campaign for the opening of the New Fulton Theatre.

This issue is made possible by their progressiveness and it is hope of the publisher that the formal opening of the new theatre will be highly successful.

Advertisers appearing in today's issue are:

BUTT & HARDIN WHOLESALE GROCERY, with W. R. Butt, Sr., and Vodie Hardin owners, started in business here in 1924, and their firm has become one of the largest and most widely known business firms in this section of the country. Mr. Hardin is manager, and his employees are Carter Olive, Guy Heithcock, and George Hicks (colored). They service a ten-mile radius of Fulton and the people of the community have found their firm to be always dependable.

THE KENTUCKY HARDWARE & IMPLEMENT COMPANY, with eleven years of continuous service in Fulton, boasts no bigger boast than to be of great service to the people of Fulton and vicinity. And this they have certainly done. The firm is composed of W. W. and George Batts, with W. W. Batts manager; Robert Batts and Will Campbell are employees of this firm. The firm sells a general line of hardware and other equipment too numerous to mention here, but whatever it is in their line you can find it here, and they are ever ready to please you.

THE DOTTY SHOP, while not the oldest firm in town, nor the youngest, is certainly one of the most modern, and caters to women's and girls wearing apparel, shoes and hats. It is now managed by Leonard Sanofsky, who succeeded his brother, Charles Sanofsky, in the management of this store. The Dotty Shop was purchased by Charles Sanofsky from Louis Kasnow last September. He has another Dotty Shop in Harrisburg, Ill., and still another shop in Anna, Ill., known as The Vogue Shop. Charles Sanofsky successfully operated the Dotty Shop here until the 15th of last month, when he took over the management of his store in Harrisburg, placing his brother, Leonard, as manager of the store here in Fulton. Fulton citizens are glad to welcome him into their midst, and feel assured that he will prove a valuable asset to Fulton.

THE FULTON HARDWARE COMPANY, is owned by a man of many years' experience in selling hardware. George Beadles, owner and manager, first entered the hardware business in 1893 with Arch Huddleston, Sr.; they operated the Huddleston Hardware Company together until 1915, when they purchased the Fulton Hardware Company and Mr. Beadles became manager of same. In 1920 they dissolved partnership, and Mr. Beadles took the Fulton Hardware Company and Mr. Huddleston the A. Huddleston & Company. The Fulton Hardware Company furnished the reinforcing for the concrete work on the new theatre, also the sewer pipes. Besides George Beadles, his son, Frank, Boyce Dumas, and J. D. Scales (colored) are employed here. In 1933 this store added a complete line of furniture and household goods. They have an enviable record, and do a big business in Fulton and vicinity.

J. T. POWELL SHOE COMPANY, is owned by J. T. Powell and does a big shoe repair business in Fulton and vicinity. He also sells men's work shoes of exceptional value. You can take an old, dirty, run-over-at-the-heels pair of shoes, with holes in the bottoms, and in a jiffy he can make them look and feel and wear like new. His engineers (?) are Henry Forrest and himself and he has been in the business here since 1921. He can be trusted to treat you right.

LADIES' TOGGERY, owned and operated by Mrs. Mattie Grigg and Mrs. R. V. Putnam, is practically a newcomer to Main Street, having opened up their beautiful store only last fall. However, in the short time of the life of this store, these two women have built up a wonderful business and draw trade from all over town as well as Fulton. They handle well known makes of dresses, hosiery, ladies' underwear, suits, hats, etc., and their customers can be assured of getting their money's worth from this shop. Mrs. Donald Stokes is employed by them to help in the alteration of garments.

SCOTT'S FLORAL SHOP on Main street is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Scott. This shop was opened here in 1927, and since that date has continued to offer Fulton the best in service, floral designs, sprays, cut flowers and pot plants, gifts of every description, and their shop is a delightful place to drop into when in need of anything in this line. They are members of the T. D. S. (Telegraph Delivery Service) and can assure you prompt and efficient service at all times.

THE FIRM of W. M. Hill & Sons is now composed of Don and Clyde Hill, general contractors, who have successfully carried on the business left them by their father, W. M. Hill, after his death in 1935. The firm was originally started in 1900 by W. M. Hill under the style of "W. M. Hill," and in 1916 Mr. Hill took his two sons into the firm and the name was changed to W. M. Hill & Sons. This firm has successfully completed many contracts in Fulton, and if you want to get them to do the work for you, ladies and gentlemen, you'll have to engage them far ahead of time. Which would indicate that "they know their stuff."

O. K. LAUNDRY, owned and operated by J. J. Owen, is one of the best plants in Western Kentucky. It has been in continuous operation here for forty years. It occupies its own modern and attractive fireproof building, employs from 30 to 35 people regularly, and operates several panel body cars in Fulton and vicinity. The latest and best process of cleaning is used today by the O. K. Sanitone. Vernon Owen, son of J. J. Owen, is manager of the plant now, ably assisted by his brothers, Harold and Johnnie.

This firm sells fire and liability insurance to a large territory, and their policy is to render the highest type service possible. The representative companies in the world and all business is given prompt and careful attention.

THE FULTON GIN COMPANY, owned and operated by J. D. Davis, was established in 1917 and since that time has become one of the best known business institutions of the city. Mr. Davis' policy is to pay the highest prices at all times for cotton, and this has brought the product to him from a wide area. The firm gives careful and prompt attention to all transactions and has been a distinct addition to the industrial life of the community. During the cotton season many workers are employed, thus providing employment for many. It is located in South Fulton.

THE BOAZ-HESTER GROCERY owned by T. T. Boaz and George Hester, is a well recognized firm here, and stands high in the esteem of the people of Fulton. Mr. Boaz, a veteran grocer, first entered the grocery business in the building now occupied by Fall & Taylor in 1913, operating a grocery known as the Taylor-Boaz grocery for a year, and in 1914 entering into business for himself. In 1931 he sold a half interest in the firm to his son-in-law, George Hester, and the firm has since been known as the Boaz-Hester Grocery. They do a large business, which is made possible by their efficient and courteous service to customers and prompt attention to all orders.

WALKER'S CLEANERS, owned by Charles Walker, who has successfully operated a cleaning and pressing plant on Commercial Avenue since 1933, is another of Fulton's most enterprising businesses. Mr. Walker and his employees are ever ready to serve their customers, and their work is guaranteed. Their delivery trucks operate over a large territory, and when in need of anything in their line, you make no mistake by giving this firm your business.

THE BOB WHITE MOTOR COMPANY, owned by R. H. White, is well known in Fulton and over a large territory surrounding Fulton as being one of the outstanding firms in Fulton. This firm is the local dealer for Fords and they sell used cars of all makes in addition to giving the people of Fulton a complete wrecker service which stands them in great need after an automobile accident or car trouble. This firm started in business in 1926, under the firm name of Snow-White Motor Company, with J. R. Snow and R. H. White. In 1933 the partnership was dissolved and R. H. White became the sole owner. The reputation of this firm is one of honest and square dealings, and their past experiences in this line of work have fitted the employees of this firm to service your automobile in a highly capable and efficient manner.

THE CCA-COLA-BOTTLING COMPANY, in business here since 1910, is one of Fulton's largest enterprises and adds to the progressiveness of the community in many ways. The new plant was built in 1929, and is one of the most modern and up-to-date bottling plants to be found in this section. R. E. Sanford is the present manager, and he has efficiently managed this plant for the past four years so that its books show an increase in business now over former years. He employs between six and eight employees and has several trucks which distribute his products to the Fulton retail trade and the territory north of Fulton in this vicinity.

WALLIS KOELLING, electrical contractor, has had eleven years of experience in wiring buildings, installing light fixtures, and electrical work of every type. He has successfully completed many contracts in Fulton and his work is guaranteed. He is assisted in his work by his brother, Robert, or "Bub" Koelling, and will gladly give you estimates on a re-wiring job, or the wiring of a new home or building.

THE FULTON POLICE DEPARTMENT, with K. P. Dalton, Sr., as Chief, has the following men on its force: Walter Boaz, Fred Dunn, and Gyp McDade. These men are courageous officers, and give the people of Fulton the best service they can render in maintaining law and order in Fulton, and protection against thieves and burglars. The responsibility placed on their shoulders is a hard one, and if you have any suggestions which would help them in their daily tasks, they would appreciate hearing them.

THE KRAMER LUMBER COMPANY, a reliable firm, is owned and operated by T. J. Kramer, who purchased this lumber company from W. K. Hall in 1924 and has since that time ably and efficiently managed this firm. Always fair and reasonable in his dealings with his customer, he has built for himself a business and a reputation of which any man could be justly proud. He employs on an average of five employees in the management of this lumber company, and (while he didn't tell this to the writer) he nearly sold his business during the recent flood. That is, all but a few sticks. But he has since replenished his stock, and is fully prepared to furnish you anything in the building line.

THE OWL DRUG STORE has been in business here since 1911. J. W. Gordon is the owner and manager, and has kept his store up to the top-notch in every way since he first started in the business. Mr. Gordon believes in doing unto others as you would have others do unto you, and treats his fellow man accordingly. Located across the street from the new theatre, Mr. Gordon expects, and has accordingly prepared, for an expansion of his business in the months to come.

THE CITY COAL COMPANY owned and operated by J. D. Davis and Gus Bard, was started in 1919 and since that time has successfully cared for the needs of the Fulton people in the fuel line. The proprietors of the City Coal Company, in addition to their business interests, have always been ready and willing to render the utmost in community service. At all times the City Coal Company can meet your fuel requirements at reasonable prices and with prompt and courteous service.

BENNETT'S DRUG STORE, established in 1890, is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, firms in Fulton, and the present proprietor, Joe Bennett, Sr., is proud of his outstanding service of 43 years to the people of this community. Mr. Bennett was engaged in this business with his brother, the late Sam Bennett who died in 1934, until 1922, when the partnership was dissolved. He has associated with him in the store his son, Joe Bennett, Jr., his son-in-law, W. H. Mc-Gee, his daughter, Miss Mayme Bennett, and Thomas Maddox. The drug store is known through the entire section for its complete and comprehensive stocks of quality drugs and kindred lines. Kind and courteous treatment is another outstanding qualification of this store.

THE H. H. BUGG GROCERY has been in business here for eight years, and has always ranked high as a grocery of quality. H. H. Bugg, proprietor and manager, is a young man of keen business ability and takes great pride in his grocery, dealing with his customers squarely and courteously. This spring Mr. Bugg remodeled his store, put in a new front, enlarged his cases and counters, and added a first class and modern meat market with new electric meat display counter and refrigerator. Those working for him are: H. H. Bugg, Leon Hutchens, Herbert Brady, and "Coon" Bowman, colored.

A. HUDDLESTON & COMPANY, local hardware dealers and tinners, manufactured and furnished all the sheet metal work for the air conditioning system in this new theatre, and made all installations. This firm started in business in 1932 in the same location. Those employed with the firm are: Arch Huddleston, Jr., Harry Murphy, Elbert Lowrey, and Sam Brumfield, besides the manager, Arch Huddleston, Sr. It is one of the oldest firms in business here and has an enviable reputation.

THE RC COLA COMPANY is owned and operated by D. T. Colley, who has his headquarters at 109 Plain Street, Fulton, and who operates three large trucks in Fulton, Weakley, and parts of Graves Counties, making daily deliveries. He started in this business in 1935, and has steadily increased his business as people became more familiar with his product. At the

LOUISE KILLEBREW florist, successor to Elizabeth Snow, florist, has successfully operated one of the most attractive floral and gift shops on Commercial Avenue to be seen anywhere. When any of your loved ones pass away in Fulton, in nearby towns or the surrounding country, or in far away and distant places, you can place your order for flowers with her and be assured that the order will be promptly filled. She sends flowers by wire to any place. She also carries a complete line of bridge

PIERCE - CEQUIN & COMPANY is one of the most progressive lumber and building supply companies in this section of the state, identified for 45 years with the construction industry. The company was founded nearly half a century ago by J. B. Cequin, a general contractor, and Devro Pierce, a sawmill and timber man. Mr. Pierce later sold out to his son-in-law, W. P. Murrell. In February, 1934, Mr. Cequin died and in the fall of the same year the partnership was dissolved and the business

BALDRIDGE'S VARIETY STORE has been in business in Fulton, backing each and every worthwhile movement and boosting the town, since 1910. The large, commodious store at 320 Lake street employs nine employees who are always courteous and considerate in their dealings with customers.

Miss Louise Wade has charge of the candy and stationery department, and sells approximately a ton of candy per month. In the notions department Miss Louise Wry has been in charge for the past eleven years. Miss Willett Cook is in the hosiery, underwear and infant's wear department. Miss Ruby Fuzzell has the toilet goods department. Mrs. Mary Ann Fields has charge of the house furnishings department. Mrs. Edna Ruth Strayhorn is in the dry goods department and over all is the assistant manager, Raymond Gamblin, and A. G. Baldrige himself, manager. Otis Sisson is stock man.

FRANK MERRYMAN, Contractor, supervised the construction of the new theatre, and it is agreed by everyone that it is an excellent piece of workmanship. Mr. Merryman has been in the contracting business since 1918, and many beautiful structures in Fulton bear witness to his genius in the planning and building of beautiful homes and buildings. In addition to the factory and theatre buildings recently completed, we list below some of his major projects during the past ten years: The First Methodist Church in Hickman, $35,000

This store is now showing a complete line of beautiful fall shoes and hosiery, and Mr. Newhouse's long experience in the shoe business assures his customers of getting the right kind of shoe for the right occasion, and a perfect fit.

FULTON ICE COMPANY, R. H. Wade proprietor and manager, ice manufacturers for forty years. Mr. Wade needs no introduction in this issue, having been one of Fulton's most progressive citizens for many years. Any plan for the welfare and betterment of Fulton has been boosted and helped by him in every way possible.

U. S. May Get $35,000,000 From Mellon

Pittsburg, Aug. 27—(AP).—Tax attorneys estimated today that the Federal inheritance tax on the estate of Andrew W. Mellon would exceed $15,000,000 and might run as high as $35,000,000.

An attache of the Register of Will's office, which will collect the tax for the State, said the estate of the former Secretary of the Treasury would probably exceed that of his brother, R. B. Mellon, which has arranged to pay the State approximately $12,000,000.

During Mellon's income tax appeal in 1931 the family's holdings were disclosed to have a value on today's market of about $243,000,000.

Much of this wealth has been transferred to the Coalesced Company with 200,000 shares of stock being given equally to Paul Mellon and Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, Mellon's children.

FRANK MERRYMAN

CONTRACTOR

Frank Merryman, general supervisor of the construction of WARNER BROTHERS' NEW FULTON THEATRE, began two major building projects in Fulton... the factory building and the theatre building, on April 7, drawing his own plans and specifications, and working from fifty to seventy-eight men. On August 8th the factory job was completed, and on August 28th the theatre building was finished.

Mr. Merryman personally supervised both jobs, giving freely of his time, thought, energy and efforts. No detail was too small or too large for him to attend to, and the beautiful buildings will stand for a long time as a monument to his ability and integrity as a contractor. All work on the theatre building was supervised by him with the exception of the heating, ventilation and wall decoration, which was installed by Warner Brothers.

"I sincerely trust that the people of Fulton will get as much pleasure out of their new theatre as I have gotten out of the building of same, and that it will stand for a long time to come and be known as the place to go for real, wholesome entertainment enjoyed by the patrons of this theatre in the many comfortable seats and with the other modern convenience provided them by Warner Brothers."

Frank Merryman

This firm is happy to express appreciation to Warner Brothers' Officials and Burgess Waltmon, local manager, for the beautiful Warner Brothers New Fulton Theatre just completed, and to congratulate all those who took part in the erecting of this modern structure.

New Theatre Has Modern Air Conditioning

Warner Bros. New Fulton Theatre is air-conditioned throughout by Typhoon Air-Conditioning Company, Inc., of New York, whose engineers and workmen spent eight weeks in Fulton installing the system. The cost has not been spared, and nothing has been left undone which could add to a comfortable, even temperature the year round. In the summer time the temperature will hover around eighty degrees Fahrenheit and in the winter months between seventy-two to seventy-eight degrees Fahrenheit.

Air-Conditioning had its birth in the theatre and a person would no more think of going to a theatre nowadays which wasn't air-conditioned.

tioned than they would think of going to one without heat in the winter time. Small theatres that thought they could elect to stay out of the procession are being forced into air conditioning.

Theatres that thought they could not afford it find they have no choice in the matter. The day when people would cheerfully "put up" with a little discomfort has definitely passed. Why should they?

In selecting apparatus for theatre air conditioning, perhaps the most important item to be considered is the means for producing this air-conditioning. The principal source of heat in theatre air-conditioning is that given off by the occupants and this is true to a much greater extent than in any other type of building. In some theatres as much as 90 per cent of the cooling load is caused by heat of occupants.

As most theatres are fully occupied for only a small portion of the time, this fact calls for a means of air-conditioning that is flexible to get best efficiency with this widely varying load.

The system chosen by the Warner Bros. New Fulton Theatre management was the artesian well, which is operated by an electrical pump motor. A great drawback is that in many locations wells are not obtainable and in some places the matter of getting well water is a pure gamble. Many theatre managers hesitate to take this gamble. The gambling element is further accentuated by the fact that wells are sometimes known to produce for a while and then "dry up."

The land in this section being low, it was found that a plentiful supply of water be found near the surface of the ground. The specially driven deep well to supply the water for this theatre was dug about six feet away from the building. This was lined with a casing of 1/4-inch boiler plate 8-inches in diameter, reinforced with steel caisson rings. It has a capacity of 200 gallons per minute in the operation of the summer air-conditioning plant.

The well is 100 feet deep. The lower 85 feet of the casing is slotted to allow the water to seep into the well. The sand surrounding the casing was sluiced out for a space of about 4 feet on all sides and this was backfilled with gravel.

A 10-horsepower, electrically driven, pump of the centrifugal type is mounted on a platform which floats on the surface of the water in the well. It raises and lowers with the variation in the level of the water in the well, which is high or low according to the amount of water being used for cooling.

A 4-inch flexible hose connects this floating pump to the supply line of the cooling system through which about 200 gallons of water per minute can be delivered.

Water Returned To Soil After Use For Cooling.

The temperature of the water in the well has been found to be 60 degrees Fahrenheit as a maximum. This will vary down to 10 degrees from outside temperature, it is expected. After the water has been used for cooling, it is disposed of by means of piping systems laid in rockfilled trenches a short distance underground near the building. It goes back into the soil where it will again be cooled. This water will again find its way into the well and will help to provide another supply of cooled water. Thus the earth is serving as the refrigeration plant for the system.

The air to be cooled is taken into the fan room through one of the basement windows in the building. Two blower type fans, capacity 900 CFM, pick up this air, circulate it first through a bank of filters and then through the air washer. The air washer is made up of a number of units 8 feet high, 8 feet wide and 6 feet deep in the direction of the air flow. After the air passes through the filters and air washers it goes into the pipe tunnel, a space about 6 feet high and 4 feet wide which extends around the entire theatre structure below the first floor. Openings have been made from this tunnel up through the floor into the bottom of the radiator inclosures on either side of the building. The conditioned air enters the theatre through grills in these inclosures.

The cooled air being the heaviest will remain in the lower part of the theatre. The condition of the air high above the occupied area is of no consequence to the comfort of the occupants. All of the air that is cooled is taken directly from the outside. No air is re-circulated back from the theatre to the air washer.

This system was designed and installed by the Typhoon Air-Conditioning Company, Inc., of New York, who sent Edward Bick, erecting engineer, a highly skilled man in this line of work, together with seven other men thoroughly trained in this work, here to install the system.

Congratulations

Your faith in Fulton is richly attested in the lease of the magnificent new show house recently completed on Main street.

I wish to join with hundreds of others in offering our sincerest congratulations on your civic enterprise and forward movement. You are giving Fulton something of which to be proud... a signal distinction on that will place Fulton in the limelight of progressiveness.—R. S. WILLIAMS.
